How to Breed

To breed, you need to have two adult monsters of the same type. You can find monsters in the wild or you can breed them yourself. To breed monsters, simply select the two monsters you want to breed and then click on the "Breed" button. The breeding process will take some time, and the resulting monster will be a combination of the two parents.

The type of monster that you breed will determine its stats and abilities. For example, breeding two strong monsters will result in a stronger monster.

Breeding two fast monsters will result in a faster monster. And breeding two ranged monsters will result in a ranged monster.

How to Protect Your Camp

Once you have bred a strong army, you need to protect your camp from the hordes of monsters. To do this, you will need to build and upgrade your camp. You can build walls, towers, and other defenses to keep the monsters out.

You can also craft weapons and armor for your monsters to make them stronger. And you can train your monsters to improve their stats and abilities.

Strategy and Tips

Here are some tips for surviving the monsters and breeding a strong army:

- Always be breeding new monsters. The more monsters you have, the better your chances of survival.
- Upgrade your camp regularly. The stronger your camp, the harder it will be for the monsters to break in.
- Craft weapons and armor for your monsters. The better your monsters are equipped, the more damage they will be able to do.
- Train your monsters regularly. The more trained your monsters are, the better their stats and abilities will be.
- Be patient. Surviving the monsters takes time and effort. Don't give up if you don't succeed at first.

Breeding is an essential part of survival in Survive the Monsters. By breeding, you can create a stronger and more resilient army to defend your camp against the hordes of monsters. Follow the tips in this guide to help you survive the monsters and breed a powerful army.
