Identifying Students Who Need Tier Two Support

The first step in implementing Tier Two interventions is to identify students who need Tier Two support. This can be done using a variety of methods, such as:

- Screening data

- Classroom observations
- Teacher referrals
- Parent concerns

Once students have been identified as needing Tier Two support, they should be placed in a Tier Two intervention group. Tier Two intervention groups are typically small, with 6-10 students per group. The groups meet regularly, typically once or twice per week, for 30-60 minutes each session.

Developing and Implementing Effective Tier Two Interventions

The next step in implementing Tier Two interventions is to develop and implement effective Tier Two interventions. Tier Two interventions should be:

- Evidence-based
- Targeted to the specific needs of the students in the group
- Delivered by trained staff
- Monitored and evaluated regularly

There are a variety of different Tier Two interventions that can be used, such as:

- Social skills groups
- Academic tutoring
- Behavioral interventions
- Tier Two Behavior Plans

- Tier Two Referral

The specific Tier Two interventions that are used will depend on the individual needs of the students in the group.

Monitoring and Evaluating the Effectiveness of Tier Two Interventions

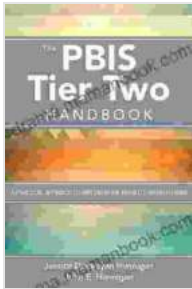

The final step in implementing Tier Two interventions is to monitor and evaluate the effectiveness of the interventions. This can be done using a variety of methods, such as:

- Student progress monitoring
- Teacher feedback
- Parent feedback
- Tier Two Universal Screening
- Tier Two Data
- Tier Two Behavior Intervention Plan (BIP)

The information gathered from monitoring and evaluation can be used to make necessary adjustments to the Tier Two interventions. This will ensure that the interventions are effective and meeting the needs of the students.

The PBIS Tier Two Handbook is a comprehensive guide for implementing Tier Two interventions in schools. This handbook provides a step-by-step guide for identifying students who need Tier Two support, developing and implementing effective Tier Two interventions, and monitoring and evaluating the effectiveness of Tier Two interventions.

By following the steps outlined in this handbook, schools can implement effective Tier Two interventions that will help students succeed.
